

New Jersey A3211/S2302

Ensuring Dignity for Women in Need

1. New Jersey A3211/S2302 requires each emergency shelter for the homeless that serves female residents shall make menstrual products free of charge to females residing in the emergency shelter for the homeless.
2. Qualifications: Women and girls who reside in emergency shelters for the homeless.
3. Timeline: This act takes effect on the 30th day following enactment.

Termed the "New Jersey Feminine Hygiene Products for the Homeless Act," this bill mandates that emergency shelters providing services to female residents must make feminine hygiene products available free of charge. The underlying objective of this legislation is to relieve homeless women and girls from the financial strain associated with purchasing these essential items, particularly when they are already facing financial and economic difficulties.
